Day4 Energy Signs Agreement with NSP Corporation for the Supply of PV Cells

Burnaby, BC, November 24, 2010 - Day4 Energy Inc. (TSX: DFE), a leading global provider of solar photovoltaic (PV) products and solutions, announces an agreement with Neo Solar Power Corporation ("NSP") of Hsinchu, Taiwan, one of the leading PV cell producers in the world, to provide Day4 Energy ("Day4") with its high performance PV solar cells through 2011.

"We are delighted to align ourselves with Day4 and provide our cells to one of the most innovative solar technology providers on the market," states Dr. Sam Hong President and COO of NSP. "Their advanced technology and manufacturing processes clearly demonstrate the potential of the Day4 brand in establishing a new standard for performance and quality in module manufacturing. This agreement shows international clients' confidence in NSP products. NSP will continue to improve product quality and efficiency to provide better and more advanced solutions to our customers" concluded Dr. Hong.

To further deepen its PV cell supply, Day4 began working with NSP in early 2010. After several months of co-operation, both organizations determined it would be mutually beneficial to establish an official arrangement to cover the upcoming year.

"The confirmed co-operation from NSP strengthens Day4's cell supply through 2011 ensuring both Day4 Energy, as well as our Day4 solarSYSTEMS manufacturing franchise partners, have everything required to be successful" says George Rubin, President of Day4 Energy. "We look forward to expanding on the foundation of successful cooperation we have put in place during the past year with NSP" concluded Mr. Rubin.
